

Assignment 1

Good and Bad Interfaces

Good Interface:

- A television remote control
 - It's an example of a good interface because it's very explicit in terms of use (uses numbers, single words like on/off, amongst others);
 - For blind people, it even has some reliefs to help with the usage.

Bad Interface:

- Login out from a Google account
 - I realized this not too long ago, if i have many google accounts logged in in my personal device, the only way to logout from only one account is to logout from all accounts;
 - In my opinion, there should be a button that allowed people to logout from a selected account.

